A Taxing Debate

Winter 2015-16

CNBC correspondent Sharon Epperson ’93SIPA was chosen as a host of the October 28 Republican presidential debate in Boulder. Epperson, who studied in SIPA’s international media, advocacy, and communications program and is now an adjunct faculty member there, has covered personal finance for CNBC since 1996. Epperson’s financial expertise was considered an asset for this particular debate, which focused on jobs, taxes, and the national debt.
