Green, who grew up in Michigan, was a solitary kid who loved books.

One book, Alice's Adventures in Wonderland, sent her down a rabbit hole that led to a lifelong passion for picture stories.

As Alice asked, "What is the use of a book without pictures or conversations?"

At age 6 she discovered her parents' New Yorker 25th anniversary cartoon album (1925-1950); she was obsessed.

This was her introduction to understanding history.

"It's broccoli, dear." "I say it's spinach, and I say the hell with it."

When Green was ten, her mom announced:
COMICS SEEMED TO FOLLOW HER EVERYWHERE.

BACK WHEN GREEN WAS 11 SHE GOT BRACES. TO HER DELIGHT, HER ORTHODONTIST HAD STACKS OF ARCHIE COMICS.

SHE ENDED UP STAYING FOR HOURS AFTER HER APPOINTMENT'S ENDING...

"I LOVED THOSE COMICS. I THOUGHT THAT'S WHAT HIGH SCHOOL WAS GOING TO BE LIKE. I WAS MISTAKEN."

HIGH SCHOOL PROVED TO BE A DIFFICULT AND TROUBLED TIME FOR GREEN.

IT'S THERE SHE DISCOVERED UNDERGROUND COMICS AND THE COMICS MAGAZINE

- WHICH BLEW HER MIND WITH ITS SLATE OF EUROPEAN CARTOONISTS

- AS WELL AS AMERICAN CHARLES BURNS, WHOSE WORK TOOK HER BREATH AWAY AND SPARKED DIRECTLY TO FEELINGS HIGH SCHOOL EVOKED.

SHE MADE IT TO COLLEGE IN 1976, BUT DROPPED OUT AFTER ONE SEMESTER AND STARTED BARTENDING, WHICH SHE WOULD DO FOR THE NEXT 15 YEARS.

BARTENDING TAUGHT HER HOW TO WORK WITH AND TALK TO DIFFICULT PEOPLE AND GRIN LIKE A CHESHIRE CAT WHEN SHE WASN'T "FEELING SMILEY."

DURING THIS TIME, GREEN CHASED MANY DIFFERENT DREAMS TRYING TO FIND HER WAY.

IN 1989 SHE WENT TO MASSAGE THERAPY SCHOOL.
As Green settled in at Columbia, she wondered what was happening in comics. She bought a copy of Paul Hornschemeier's Mother, Come Home. Its depiction of family and loss opened Green's eyes to what comics could be and sparked an idea.

In 2008, Green created an exhibition at Butler, "Comics in the Curriculum," demonstrating ways that themes from comics could be taught in courses. And from there, she began building a collection.

In 2010, out of the blue, legendary X-Men author Chris Claremont contacted Green to offer up his archives. The collection started to take shape.

Then, in 2010, out of the blue, legendary X-Men author Chris Claremont contacted Green to offer up his archives. The collection started to take shape.

This burgeoning catalogue includes manuscripts, sketches, original art, correspondence, contracts, and other materials.

From comics icons like Mad's Al Jaffee; Howard Cruse, the father of gay comics; early Batman contributor Jerry Robinson; Elfquest creators Wendy and Richard Pini; Kitchen Sink Press; and cartoonist Mort Gerberg.

The library's holdings included just three graphic novels: Maus, Persepolis, and Palestine—"works that had received enough attention to not be considered comics."

Recognizing that the study of comics of all sorts was on the rise, in 2008 Green made the case that the library get ahead of the curve.

Author's note: This is the year I came to Columbia as a doctoral student and first met Karen.

Faculty in English, narrative medicine, and American and East Asian studies got interested and numerous classes have since been offered across campus.

And that collection of three? Now over 14,000 volumes!

What lesson can we draw from Karen's adventures? Here we go with an homage to Al Jaffee's MAD Fold-In.
